How to use the Employee Assistance Program

The Employee Assistance Program (EAP) is a confidential service provided by your employer that offers help with personal and work-related issues.

Professionally trained advisors are available to help with family problems, marital concerns, financial and legal matters, stress, depression, and other issues affecting your personal or work life.

The EAP is free and confidential. Advisors are available to help 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Below is information on how the EAP can help and how it works.

Dealing with a personal or work issue?

The EAP can provide support, referrals, and resources related to many issues, including the following:

- Adoption issues
- Alcohol and drug abuse
- Anxiety
- Budgeting, financial worries, and reducing debt
- Child care and parenting issues
- Concern about another person's alcohol or drug abuse
- Conflict at work
- Crisis and trauma
- Depression
- Domestic abuse
- Education issues
- Elder care/caregiving issues
- Gambling and other addictions
- Grief and loss
- Job burnout
- Legal matters
- Relationship issues
- Separation and divorce
- Stress
- Workplace change
- Work-related problems and job stress

The EAP encourages employees and those close to them to seek help early, before a minor problem becomes more serious. The EAP is designed to address short-term issues and to identify resources and referrals for emergency and long-term issues. When in doubt, contact the EAP for help or support.

The EAP is free

The EAP is a service provided by your employer at no cost to you. That means that you pay nothing to use it. However, if you accept a referral to services outside the EAP, you will be responsible for costs that may be associated with resources external to the EAP. For example, if the EAP advisor refers you to an outside attorney for a legal matter, you would be expected to cover those costs. If the EAP advisor refers you to a counselor for ongoing (long-term) counseling and the referral is through your medical benefits, co-pays or deductibles may apply; if the referral is not covered by your medical benefits, you would be responsible for fees charged by the specialist or counselor. The EAP advisor will work with you to find the most appropriate and cost-effective help to address your needs.

If you are or someone close to you is going through a difficult time, remember the EAP is only a phone call away. Contact LifeWorks today.
